R. J. Cunningham, at Head of State Force, Spends Half Hour Here

"ALL POSSIBLE" PROMISED

Advices Committee That Nothing Definite Could be Assured, but Directs Division Engineer Alex. Gray to Make Investigations.

Making his tour of Washington county during the celebration of Good Roads' day, State Highway Commissioner R. J. Cunningham stopped in Charleroi for a half hour or more Wednesday afternoon and discussed with a committee requests for improvements of roads in this section. He promised nothing, excepting that all possible would be done. The committee meeting him was composed of J. J. Holt, K. W. Daly, R. H. Rush, W. H. Calvert, John B. Schafer, W. R. Gant, C. F. Thompson, of Charleroi and Charles N. Speers of Speers.

Requests were presented to the state highway commissioner for the bridging of the Maple Creek road from the Borough line to the present county road at Colvin's farm and for the elimination of two small bridges along this route. Together with this request was presented that for reducing a sharp curve at Colvin's, and a request for the opening of the extension of the Speers road from Speers' crossing to Beechwood. The last named section is a part of the river road.

Mr. Cunningham instructed Division Engineer Alexander Gray, who accompanied him here to investigate and determine the needs hereabouts. Mr. Cunningham in addition to Mr. Gray was accompanied by Division Engineer L. L. Robbins of Allegheny county.

Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Smith of Washington avenue spent several days in Pittsburgh.

CLAIMED TO HAVE ASSAULTED OWNER IN ORDER TO GET DOG

Canine Expert Disappears After Charge is Made, and Now Monessen Is Without One Official.

Nick Hughes, a dog catcher of Monessen is being sought for on a charge of assault and battery. When John DeFau protested when Hughes attempted to take his dog into custody it is said Hughes struck DeFau in the face so forcibly that it required eleven stitches to sew up the wound. At the time of the assault Hughes wore no badge of authority. DeFau declares that he will prosecute Hughes to the limit of the law, as the attack was an unjust one. Hughes has left and has not been apprehended. At present it looks as though there is going to be a vacancy in this department of the Monessen borough force.

SUPPOSED ARMY DESERTER CAUGHT

Floyd King Apprehended in Monessen; is Wanted in El Paso, Texas

GOVERNMENT ON HIS TRAIL

Floyd King, age 22 and a deserter of the United States army at El Paso, Texas, on April 20, has been recaptured at his former home in Monessen. In the spring King joined the United States army in Parkersburg, W. Va., and was later signed to service at El Paso, Texas. King is a character well known in the Monessen police station, having served time for stealing chickens before joining of the army.

Notice had been received some time ago at the Monessen police headquarters requesting that they be on a continual lookout for the deserter. Tuesday the authorities recognized and arrested King along with a companion at the carnival grounds in Monessen. It is thought that the companion, Clarence Carney, is also a deserter from the United States Army. Both men are detained in the Monessen police station awaiting the arrival of army authorities from Pittsburgh.

King is the son of Mrs. Hattie King of Onieda street, Monessen.

JITNEY BUS OPERATION IS STARTED IN CHARLEROI

W. L. Lorimer has opened up a jitney bus service between Charleroi and Speers, this being practically the first attempt at jitney operation between these two towns. He is also conducting a service to Belle Vernon. His line is being well patronized, but like every other good thing is coming in for its line of competition.

ITALIANS BARRICADE ACME MINE WHEN THEY ARE TEMPORARILY EXCLUDED FROM EMPLOYMENT

Wild Excitement Prevails Among Miners at Bentleyville When Foreigners Attempt to Stop Others From Going to Work

Wednesday a riot was but narrowly averted at the Acme mines at Bentleyville when some Italians endeavored to prohibit certain other miners from working in the mine when they themselves could not work. The recent burning of the lamp house caused a shortage of lamps and all of the men could not work until more lamps had been procured. The Italians were among those excluded. This angered them and they proceeded to build a wall of some fire bricks in the mines and barricade themselves at the entrance. They warned that anyone attempting to enter the mines would be harshly dealt with. They accentuated this by arming themselves with picks, axes and other instruments.

One of the bolder miners snatched a lamp and attempted to dash past the Italian vigil. He was apprehended by a well-aimed pick handle that caught him directly behind the ear. His wife were considerably confused and he was extremely glad to be dragged out into the daylight again. Another man was struck with a lamp when he endeavored to rush the self-imposed guards. Some twenty Italians were behind the barricade and all were highly angered. They successfully detained the men from work for a good portion of the morning. At last the efforts of Superintendent Thomas H. Tudor and officers succeeded in routing the fortified Italians. The affair was considered a dire one in the Acme mining circles and the labor union called a special meeting Wednesday evening to decide what action would be best made upon the affair.

CHARLEROI SCHOOL PUPILS ENJOY DAY AT ELDORA PARK; CONTESTS ARE INTERESTING

Valuable Prizes Given to Winners of Various Events--Cars to And From Park Are Much Crowded

Wednesday the pupils of the Charleroi schools enjoyed a fine time at the school picnic at Eldora park. A crowd of between four and five thousand was in attendance. For several hours the cars running between Charleroi and the park were crowded to standing capacity.

In the afternoon the weather became cold and windy to the point of being disagreeable. The picnics played only the harder as it grew cold and in their incessant play forgot the cold. A delicious lunch was served to the picnickers at the dinner hour. They were waited upon by the committees in charge of the different groups. All enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

The contests were hotly and well contested. This feature of the day was attended by nearly all attending the picnic. One of Worst Sections in County Put in Best of Shape by Local People

SEVENTY MEN AT WORK HERE

Careful Tab kept by Those in General Charge--State Highway Commissioner Makes Visit Here--Great Good Done in the County.

One of the worst roads in Washington county or for that matter in the western end of the state was transformed from a practically impassable to a passable highway through the efforts of Charleroi, North Charleroi, Speers, Twilight and Dunlevy citizens on Good Roads' day Wednesday. The pieces of highway was that of the Speers extension between Speers and Dunlevy. For one mile it was worked and put into shape even for a good automobile driveway. A few holes remain yet to be improved, but Speers borough will look after their repair. At a guess fully $1,000 worth of improvement was made.

The improvement of the Speers extension road was only a small part of the general good done over Washington county. In Fallowfield township two corps of workmen put things in shape to last a year.

From Charleroi, North Charleroi, Speers, Twilight and Dunlevy there were recruited 70 men to work on the river road above Speers. Seven teams were used and the work was done generally under the direction of J. J. Holt, local superintendent. The water drains were opened up and fills made in the holes by the use of "gob" from the Vesta mine "gob" piles. While getting through to the "gob" pile at least one team stuck in the mud of the road, showing the awful condition it was in.

Local enthusiasts worked from 7 o'clock until about 5. Included in the delegation were men from all walks of life, including one minister of the gospel, Rev. W. G. Mead, Ph. D., who appeared among the first in the morning, armed with a shovel. He worked valiantly, along with doctors and other professional men and laborers. From 12 to 15 autos were provided. J. P. Hepler looked after the listing of the men employed during the day.

Luncheon was served by the refreshment committee at the old Beechwood ball grounds at about 12:30 o'clock. The lunch was composed of substantial, including ham and cheese sandwiches, vegetables of various nature, coffee, buttermilk and ice cream. Pictures of the group were taken.

J. V. Young and John Jacobs were in charge of the work in Fallowfield township. Young had 16 teams and 25 men at work on the improvement of the Centerville road. He used a stone crusher, a steam drill, and put in 96 yards of stone. John Jacobs supervised the work of repair on the Charleroi ridge road and made much needed improvement.

All over the county and state marvelous good was done. In the state between 150,000 and 200,000 men worked on the road, being headed by

GOOD ROADS' DAY RESULTS.

Reports from all sections show that untold good was done in the improvement of the highways throughout the state by willing volunteers Wednesday. Some arms, shoulders and backs today are the consequences of lifting labor, but the effort was worth while.

Washington county started the Good Roads' day movement in Pennsylvania, and got a year's head on the rest of the state. So well did Washington countians work a year ago that roads repaired then are still in good shape. That, as a matter of fact was one reason why work could be located in certain sections by numerous workmen this week.

Put a few hundred thousand men to work on the roads in the state, and you have a corps that will do something. That was the system that obtained Wednesday. Last year the suggestion was advanced that Good Roads' day be made an annual occurrence, and results of labors this week have proved the value of it.

TRACKING HUMAN MISFITS.

Relatives of Russel Petrnick, confessed slayer of Mrs. Ella G. Copper-smith and her little son, Jack, at Chicago, have unearthed school records to show that an examiner ten years ago, when Petrnick was but ten years old, had declared the slayer a "human misfit." It took Petrnick three years to go through the first grade. The examiner's report says: "The boy is only fairly well grown, with a large number of growth abnormalities. Especially noted are those of the nose, which make him a continual mouth breather and tend to depress his mental status. His vision is poor, although glasses were provided for him six months ago. The right ear is practically deaf and his left ear is one or two points below normal for children of his age and intelligence."

"He is only fairly acute." Of course this is only one instance, remarks the Pittsburgh Dispatch, but it will not be surprising if it is made the text for a movement to have schools turn the records of "human misprints" over to the police for further vigilance. It may be well to suggest, however, that all mouth breathers have not turned out murderers, that many pupils with defective vision have become exemplary citizens and scholars whose ears do not match and not necessarily potential assassins.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In the June American Magazine Ring W. Lardner writes an amusing baseball story about Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers, whom he calls "the greatest player in the business." Following is an extract from what he says about Cobb:

"For, say, I wish I was the ball player he is. They could throw pop bottles and these here stones at me and I wouldn't mind. They could call me names from the stand, but I wouldn't care. If the whole population of the United States hated me like they think they hate him, I wouldn't mind. So long as I could just get back in that old game and play the ball he plays. But if I could kid, I wouldn't have no time to be talking to you."

"What do you think of him?" "Think of him!" says Cal. "What could anybody think of him? I think enough of him to wish he'd go and break a leg. And I'm not sore on him personally at that."

"Don't you like to see him play ball?" I say.

was playing Philadelphia or Washington or any club but mine." "I guess you'd like to have him, wouldn't you?" I say.

"Me?" says Cal. "All I'd give for him is my right eye."

"But," I say, "he must keep a manager worried some, in one way and another; you'd always be afraid he was going to break his own neck, or cut somebody else's legs off or jump to the 'feds' or something."

"I'd take my chances," says Cal. "I believe I could even stand the worry for a few days."

"I seen it in the papers where McGraw says Eddie Collins is the greatest ball player in the world. I ain't going to argue with him about it, because I got nothin' but admiration for Collins. He's a bear. But, kid, I wish McGraw had to play twenty-two games a year again this Royston Ringer. No, I don't neither. McGraw never done nothin' to me."

In the June American Magazine David Grayson, writing his story "Hampfield," comments in parts as follows on the conspiracy of the world against youth and growth: "The world of course, is in a secret conspiracy against youth and growth. Any man who dares to be young, or to grow, or to be original, must expect to have the world set upon him and pound him unmercifully—and if that doesn't finish him off, then the world flings desperately to his coat tails, resolved that if it cannot stop him entirely it will at least go along with him and make traveling as difficult as possible. This latter process is what a friend of mine illuminatively calls the 'drag of mediocrity.'"

"But this punching and pounding is mostly good for youth and originality—good if it doesn't kill—for it proves the strength of youth, tests faith and enthusiasm and measures surely the power of originality. And as for the proving drag upon the coat tails, youth and originality should reflect that this is the only way by which mediocrity ever gets ahead."

At home he comes! He's on the job! He's always with you! He's speaking of it in business clubs. The man in the street is the best.

"In spite of all your store a woman doesn't talk any more than a man," snipped Mrs. Gabb, "and there never was a woman who wanted the last word."

"That's right," agreed Mr. Gabb. "There never was a woman who knew that there was such a thing as the last word."

Correct.

"Each man is made of dust," said Hams. "This is why they go to bed if he sees that his dust contains a lot of sleep."

The Wise Fool.

"There is nothing in the world creates and sustains interest like a good detective story," remarked the sage.

"What is the matter with a mortgage?" asked the fool.

"That's Good!"

Of course he knew it's your fault. He ought to have two guards. He thinks he can play poker, but he's not with the cards.

Huh!

"There goes a man who likes to have other people tell him their troubles," remarked the fat man.

"What is he—a philanthropist?" asked the thin man.

"No," replied the fat man. "He's a lawyer."

Dig.

"Why is it the thin stick evades my hand?" said Mr. Higgs. "For if I only had four spades I often have to dig."

Correct.

The three strongest things are radium, gratitude and common sense.

Luke McLuke Says:

Most married women lose their good nature long before they lose their good looks.

Always try to remember that if you keep your mouth closed other people will be compelled to agree with you.

Most of the brides who are light house-keeping manage to turn out some pretty heavy food.

Wait about a month and you will discover that you won't want the thing that you feel you can't possibly get along without today.

A man imagines that courtesy compels him to pay another man's car fare, but a woman can see just as much sense in paying another woman's grocery bill as there is in paying her carfare.

Before she marries she is a princess and after she is married for a little while she resigns as a queen. But after about ten years of married life and raising children you could walk into the kitchen and your first guess would be that she is the lady who is doing the washing and the second guess would be that she is the lady who is getting six bits a day for scrubbing the woodwork.

The reason why a girl knows that she has a bad hair is because occasionally she thinks it is red.

And if you only knew it, there are more people who do not live in glass houses.

A man thinks it is polite to say that he isn't hungry when he sits down to a table. But a boy thinks it is a damn lie.

The reason why a woman knows that her hair is her crowning glory is because she is always bawling for a new hat with which to hide it.

We do not believe in long engagements. But a fellow ought to give a girl a few simple lessons before he asks her if she thinks she could learn to love him.

We will never believe that there was any spring in 1915. We didn't get a single almanac displaying the signs of the zodiac around a young man who is wearing open faced anatomy.

Every now and then you will meet a man who is so worried over the money market that he can't dig up any market money.

MAKE CHANGE IN MAIN BOUT OF BOXING SHOW

Johnny Ray Unable to Appear Saturday Because of Injuries While Training Tuesday—Good Substitutes Procured in Celmar and Styperl.

Unfortunately Johnny Ray, who was to meet Eddie Winder, in the boxing show at Charleroi Saturday night was injured while training Tuesday night. Ray was injured so seriously that it will be impossible for him to appear in the local ring Saturday night. The management has secured Buck Styperl and Johnny Celmar, both of Pittsburgh to stage the main bout instead of Ray and Winder. Styperl and Celmar are both well known in the fighting circles of Charleroi and ought to present an excellent bout. The rest of the show will be as usual.

BENTLEYVILLE IMPROVES VARIOUS BOROUGH ROADS BY HARD WORK WEDNESDAY

The volunteers for working the roads Wednesday in Bentleyville were arranged into groups which were in turn assigned to work on the Bentleyville borough roads at the points most in the need of repair. Many improvements were made on the Campground road, on the Acme road, on the Washington road, the Bentleyville-Beallsville pike and Piersol avenue. Many teams were loaded for the day by local team owners. Automobiles were generously loaned for the transportation of the volunteered laborers from the borough building to the various scenes of labor. Cinders and ashes were secured at the coke yards and hauled to the places in the need of filling in. The majority of the town's citizens responded to the call of Gov. Brumbaugh and it resulted that the roads of the Bentleyville section present a much better appearance than heretofore.

EPWORTH LEAGUES OF THE VALLEY WILL HOLD MEETING

The Epworth Leagues of the Monongahela sub-district will hold their second quarterly rally in the Methodist Episcopal church at Donora on Thursday June 3, afternoon and evening. This will be the last rally before the district convention which meets in Monongahela on June 22, 24 and 25. Much interest has been aroused throughout the entire sub-district as to which league will win the handsome banner that will be awarded at the rally to the league making the best record for the year's work. A good program has been prepared and a most enjoyable time is assured to all who attend. The feature of the meeting will be an address by Rev. Raymond L. Archer a missionary just home on a short furlough from the island of Java where the Epworth Leagues of the Pittsburgh conference have established a highly successful missionary enterprise, among the 32,000,000 inhabitants of that land. The Donora young people will serve a light lunch to all visitors.

Monessen Lad Causing Westmoreland County Juvenile Authorities All Kinds of Annoyance—May Be Sent To Morgantza.

Mrs. Chester, the Westmoreland county probation official career with the youthful member of the Wiedezowski family of Monessen.

Three days after Joe Wiedezowski, aged 15, had been paroled by the court and brought back home, Lewis, an 11 year old brother appeared under the guard of Constable Woolsey and was committed to the juvenile department of the county jail charged with vagrancy and incorrigibility.

A search of the Wiedezowski home was made by officers Saturday night and a number of tennis rackets, shoes, balls and gloves were found which they had evidently taken from local merchants. Lewis will probably be sent to the Morgantza, having refused so many trials to straighten up.

MONESSEN PLANNING TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Monday Afternoon to be Date of Celebration—Col. Edward X. Robbins, Of Greensburg to Speak—Program Arranged.

Arrangements have been completed for the observance of Memorial Day at Monessen, on Monday afternoon, May 31st, in honor of the Union veterans. The Memorial services, which were fittingly observed last year for the first time in the history of Monessen, will be commemorated on a much larger scale this year. The hour of the mass meeting has been fixed at 2 o'clock.

Colonel Edward X. Robbins of Greensburg, will be the principal speaker of the day. Colonel Robbins will make his address in the Sixth street park, a competent grand stand having been erected for the purpose. The Monessen schools will be dismissed at noon Monday in order that the school children might attend the exercises.

At the conclusion of the meeting adjournment will be had to the Grand View cemetery, where John D. Bayard will conduct the regular G. A. R. Memorial services, assisted by a firing squad from Sergeant P. C. Grace's camp of the Sons of the Veterans of Belle Vernon. A chorus of 50 school girls of the Monessen schools under the leadership of Prof. R. W. Davies will render the vocal music.

CHECKS FOR LARGE AMOUNTS

One Drawn for Forty-Nine Million Dollars Set a High Record Recently.

Last Wednesday Kuhn, Loeb & Co. turned a check for $49,000,000 over to the Pennsylvania railroad in payment for the bonds recently purchased. That check was $9,000,000 larger, as far as Wall street could recall this week, than any which ever passed through the financial district.

On May 7, 1904, Secretary Shaw left Washington for New York with a check in his pocket for $49,000,000 drawn to J. P. Morgan & Co., who represented the French syndicate in the Panama canal transaction. That same year Speyer & Co. turned a check for $19,000,000 over to Mexico in connection with the purchase of government bonds.

Any number of checks for smaller amounts were recalled. One for $28,000,000 was drawn in connection with the purchase by Lake Shore of Reading stock. A year ago one for $23,000,000 was drawn on the Bank of Commerce for $23,000,000 to pay for city bonds. Only a few weeks ago a check for $18,000,000, drawn by the Consolidated Gas, passed through the National City bank.

"I can recall 20 years ago," an official of one of the large Wall street institutions said, "when a crowd would gather around our bank to get a look at a check for $100,000. Nowadays, no attention is paid to a check for $5,000,000 or $10,000,000, except to make the necessary routine arrangements to prevent a disturbance of balances."

When that remark was repeated to a well-known international banker, he replied with a laugh: "Sometimes they don't even do that."—New York Evening Post.

HAITIANS NOT ALL SAVAGES

Island Has a Literature of Its Own and Many Refined and Educated People.

Very few are familiar with conditions in Haiti. The fact that it has a literature, groups of refined and educated people in all the important towns, distinguished doctors and lawyers who would rank high in any country, is not at all generally known.

The official language of the country is French, and all educated persons, of course, speak this language. The books of Haitian authors are written in this language. The native literature is now becoming considerable, embraces almost all departments and some of it is of a high order. The early writers wrote history and ephemeral poetry. The principal historians are Madiou and Ardouin, who both wrote well-known histories of Haiti. Mr. J. N. Leger, ex-minister to the United States, has also written an interesting history of Haiti.

Within the last few years Mr. Magloire has published a history of Haitian revolutions. Among the writers of romance, Demesme Delorme, who has been called the father of Haitian literature, takes first place. He wrote "Francisca," "Les Theoriciens au Pouvoir" and "La Hollande." He was decorated by the emperor of Germany, the pope and the sultan of Turkey. Frederic Marcelin, Ferdinand Ribbert, Antoine Innocent and others have written very interesting stories portraying Haitian life, manners and customs.

British Control of Egypt.

Few developments of the war can be fuller of irony than the transformation of Egypt into a British protectorate as a byproduct of an Anglo-French struggle against Germany. Bismarck, indeed, denied the statement made by Lord Granville in the house of lords in 1885 (and by M. de Blowitz in his memoirs) that at Berlin in 1878 he had advised Lord Beaconsfield to "take Egypt." He elaborately explained that he had only recommended us to become "leaseholders" of the sultan. But it is plain enough that Bismarck welcomed our control of Egypt as an annoyance to France and a diversion of French thought from Europe. That was an older German policy than is generally realized. Leibnitz suggested the occupation of Egypt to Louis XIV. with a view to turning French policy away from the Rhine.—London Chronicle.

Chinese Women.

It was only ten years ago that a famous Chinese viceroys said: "Don't give women books in which to store their embroidery threads." Now educational enterprises include women as generally as men. In 1907, when 609 students came up to Nanking to take examinations in connection with the western scholarships, three of the thirteen students chosen were women. Twelve Chinese women are now studying in Great Britain; two women physicians trained in the United States are in charge of a hospital in Kinkiang; another Chinese woman is at the head of a hospital in Foochow; and still another is the editor of a paper in Peking.

Religion in Germany.

So far as the German empire as a whole is concerned, there is no state religion, each state being left free to maintain its own establishment. Thus, while the emperor, as king of Prussia, is head of the Prussian Evangelical church, as German emperor he enjoys no such ecclesiastical headship.

According to the religious census of 1910, the population of Germany was divided as follows: Protestants, 61.6 per cent; Roman Catholics, 36.7; others unclassified, 1.7.

COURTESY ON TELEPHONE

No Reason Why It Should Be Forgotten Because One May Be in a Hurry.

"I thought the telephone was a most informal instrument," objected one girl to another who had spoken of telephone etiquette.

"Etiquette," said the other, "is simply courtesy, and naturally one can be as courteous over the telephone as anywhere else, but how many of us are?"

It certainly is exasperating to be given a wrong number; but to speak in a sharp, angry tone to the person who answers the phone under such circumstances is as unjust as it is impolite. Instead of rudely requesting him to "ring off," you should say, "I beg your pardon," as if you really meant it.

Many women have an exasperating way of asking, "Who is this?" when someone answers their call whose voice they do not recognize. Always ask for the person you want to speak to, and mention who wants her.

In talking to business people be brief as possible, for their time is valuable. Girls who have the telephone habit should be made to realize that it is most embarrassing for employees to be called to the phone during business hours unless the message is very important, and that an employer is not pleased, to say the least, when he sees his clerks wasting his time talking social matters over the telephone.

Don't impose upon your friends' good nature by telephoning from house or office without offering to pay for the call. Above all else, when you phone "cut it short." It is difficult to realize that pleasure can be had from gossiping into a hole in the wall, but it is a temptation to many. Say what you have to say and get through with it. Don't keep the wire occupied with aimless chatter when, perhaps, it is urgently needed for an important message.

AS TO DIRT AND DISEASE

Words Have Been Considered Synonymous, but Science Has Proved the Contrary.

"Fathers and mothers lucky enough to have both boys and girls know how clean the girls keep themselves and how the boys disregard dirt. From earliest childhood the little girl's hands and face are washed, and she evades dress stains, combs her hair and tries to look nice. But every normal boy, up to the age of fourteen, revels in dirt and looks forward to the Saturday night bath with virtuous contempt or dread. But boys do not suffer infectious diseases as much as girls. This was brought out in an investigation made of 8,900 children of all ages and sexes. We requested the mothers themselves to report what diseases their children had had. Girls had had more infectious than boys of the same age. This goes to support the modern view that dirt and disease have no necessary relation. It is not the dirt boys revel in that does harm. It is the germs in other people's bodies that should be dreaded. The girls encounter infection more than the boys because they are more sociable, meet other children more, and associate with them more intimately than boys do."—Doctor Hill.

Helpful Suggestion.

The costumer came forward to attend to the nervous old beau who was mopping his bald and shining poll with a big silk handkerchief.

"And what can I do for you?" he asked.

"I want a little help in the way of a suggestion," said the old fellow. "I intend going to the French students' masquerade ball tonight, and I want a distinctly original costume—something I may be sure no one else will wear. What would you suggest?"

The costumer looked him over attentively, bestowing special notice on the gleaming nob.

"Well, I'll tell you," he said then, thoughtfully, "why don't you sugar your head and go as a pill?"—Tid-Bits.

Vin Ordinaire.

Why, how do you do? Haven't seen you in a long time. How are you? That's good. Yes, I'm well. You're looking fine. No need to ask you how you are. Yes, I've been well all along. Hope you have. You certainly look it. No, I wouldn't say that unless I meant it. Yes, I feel first rate. I never felt better. I'm mighty glad to see you looking so well. You weren't feeling so good at one time, were you? No, neither was I. But I feel fine now. I certainly never saw you looking better. I'm glad you think I look well. Of course, you never know. I really am feeling first rate. Anybody could see you're well—

Etc., etc., etc.—Life.

Have a Good Bed.

In Farm and Fireside a contributor, writing a practical article about mattresses and other provisions for beds, makes the following general comment:

"In furnishing a home the housewife should give most careful thought to the beds and their equipment. We spend at least a third of our lives in bed, and it is worth while to make that third pleasant and refreshing. The best mattresses and springs are none too good when one is storing up strength for some work. Besides, as is the case with most household purchases, the best are really the cheapest in the end."

How Gold Dust actually works for you

The active principle of Gold Dust is a valuable antiseptic cleansing agent.

It actually works. It gets into the corners and crevices where fingers and washcloths can't reach. It permeates and dissolves dirt, grease and grime everywhere and it cleans and brightens everything.

Gold Dust does all this—does this actual work—because it is made for that purpose.

Millions of women all over the country use Gold Dust three times a day in washing dishes. They use it also for scrubbing floors, washing windows, etc.

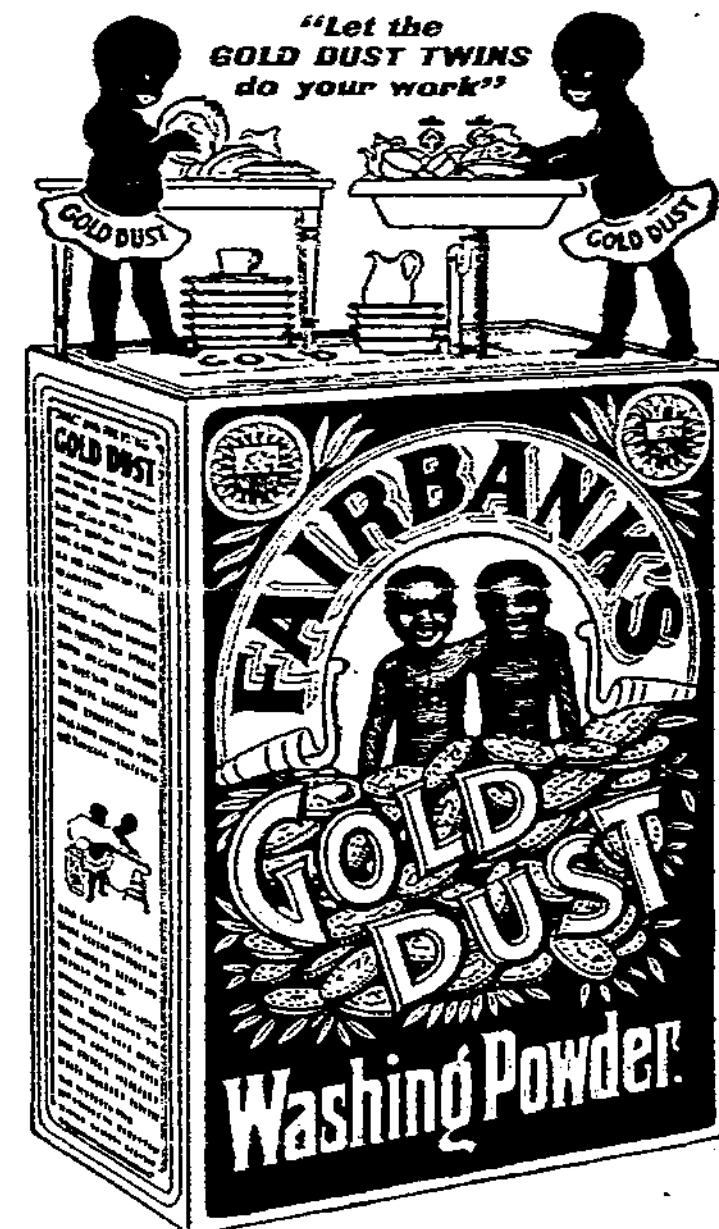

But they do not realize all the uses of Gold Dust. Gold Dust is the only washing and cleaning powder needed in any home.

Gold Dust cleans metal work, nickel, enameled ware, etc., without scratching or marring the surface—leaving it sanitariously clean, bright and new-looking.

The use of Gold Dust is an economy. There can be no waste when you use the exact small quantity required for each specific purpose. It is at once taken up by hot or cold water, forming the perfect cleansing solution.

No soap or other cleansing help is needed. Gold Dust does it all, and Gold Dust does its work far better than anything else can.

Use Gold Dust not only for washing dishes, but for washing bathtubs and bathroom fixtures, cleaning oil mops, cleaning and freshening linoleum and oilcloth, cleaning and brightening pots, pans and cooking utensils, giving luster to glassware—for every cleaning and brightening purpose.

Gold Dust is as inexpensive as it is indispensable.

How Vinol Made Her Strong

Beallsville, Ohio.—"I wish all nervous, weak, run-down women could have Vinol. I was so run-down, weak and nervous I could not sleep. Everything I ate hurt me, and the medicine I had taken did me no good. I decided to try Vinol, and before long I could eat anything I wanted and could sleep all night. Now I am well and strong, and in better health than I have been for years."

CURED OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Ohio Man's Case Shows How Terrible Malady Can Be Conquered.

"Dear Sufferer:—Last summer I was attacked with kidney trouble. Incessant backache was the first symptom. Whenever I stooped to tie my shoes I felt a dizzy, swimming sensation in my head. It was almost impossible for me to straighten up because of my stiff back. My hands were puffed and covered with little brownish-yellow spots. The kidneys were highly congested and off in action. I heard of Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets as the new and scientific treatment, so tried it. It proved a wonder. The backache and yellow spots have entirely disappeared and I now feel better in every way. I advise you, suffering from backache, tired feeling, restlessness, nightly arising, any kidney or bladder ills or rheumatism, to get from your druggist today a few Lloyd's, the kind that cured me. Don't injure your kidneys by using salts or powerful drugs."
